Pascale Lion's jewelry is inspired by chain mail, a metallic textile diverted from its protective uses. Singular and sensual, it links past and present, transparency and opacity, strength and softness.

The designer chose materials for their essential qualities: structures, textures, shapes and colors. For the past 25 years, through her jewelry, objects and installations, she combines a plastic and technical approach to serve her permanent search for material as an object.

Pascale Lion's creations are made in France, with sustainable, recyclable and high quality materials.

New
Belle tie

Matériaux et finitions

Chain mail is made from stainless steel, bronze or titanium. The nomenclature we have developed is detailed here.

AR — silver - polished stainless steel.
Matifies slightly over time..

LIGHT — Variable — champagne, blonde, sometimes verging on grey - polished and heated stainless steel.

NU — Variable — shades of brown to blond - polished and heated stainless steel.
Each piece is unique, limited series.

CU — Variable — light brown to coppery brown, sometimes almost black.
Polished and heated stainless steel.

BR — slightly pinkish brown - sandblasted raw bronze.
Finish: matt jeweller's varnish*.

DO — pale gold - bronze gilded with fine gold*.

TITANE — Variable — variations from bright blue to blue-grey or violet - titanium.

The clasps and findings are made of bronze or brass. They are gilded, silvered, coppered or varnished depending on the piece.

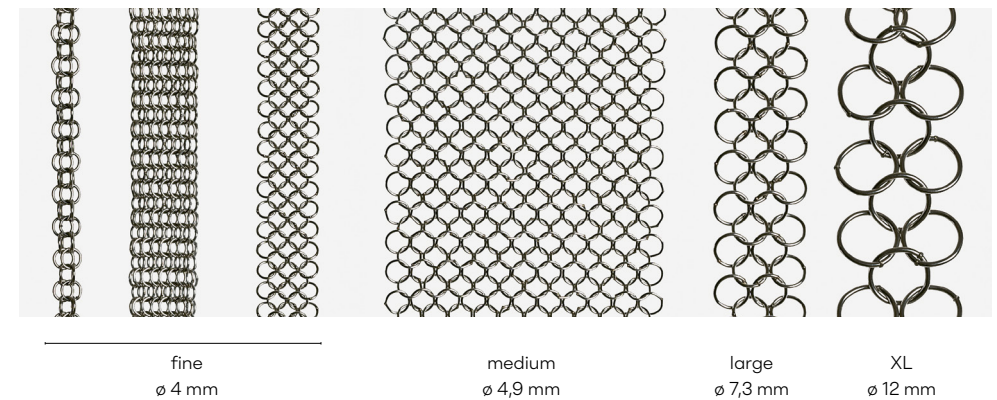

Each series is unique, each piece is specific.
Variations in color from one production run to the next and irregularities even within the same piece are inherent in the artisanal production process.

Our chainmails

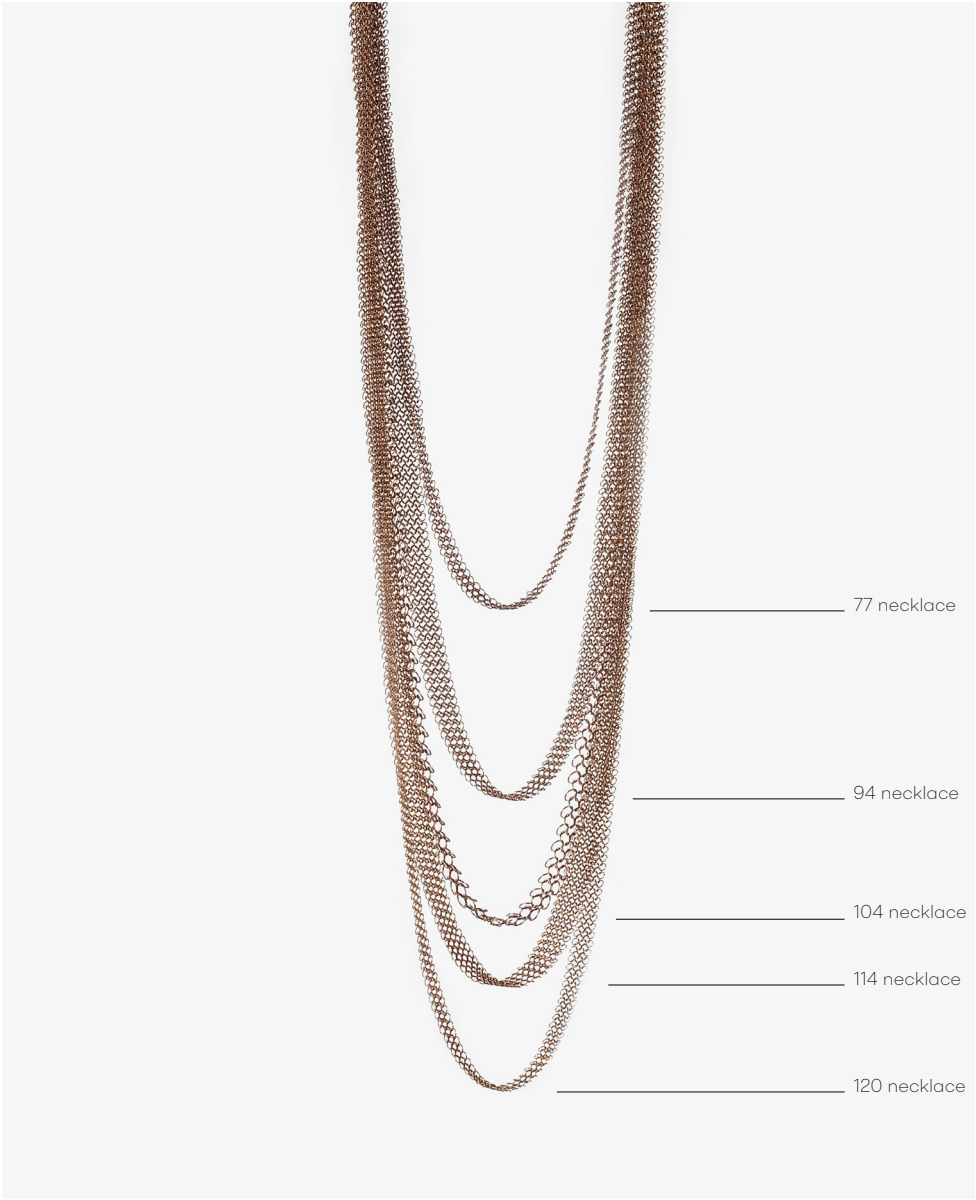

Chainmail is made up of rings intertwined and welded. They are made of stainless steel, titanium or bronze. The size of the rings determines the texture: fine mesh, medium mesh, large mesh, or XL mesh. The wire thickness is specific for each mesh.

* These jewellery treatments can evolve when in contact with cosmetics or corrosive products, or with some people's skin.

Les Basiques

All our long necklaces are one ring narrower in the DO and BR finishes. Here they are in CU finish.

The ring is as simple as it gets*. The top is a spectacular piece, to wear in your own way.

Measure

To determine your size*, measure your hand at its widest part (thumb inwards), Then refer to the table for the corresponding measurements.

Our sizes are indicative, with a tolerance of ± 5 mm. They may vary from one series to another.*

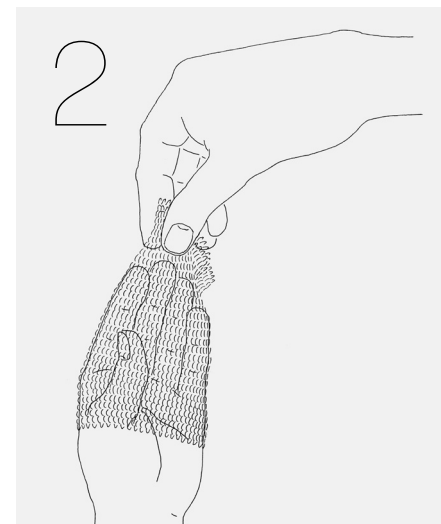

size	cm
0	19
1	20
2	21
3	22
4	23
5	24
6	25
7	26
8	27

Place

Continue to slide the cuff along your hand until it fits naturally on your wrist.

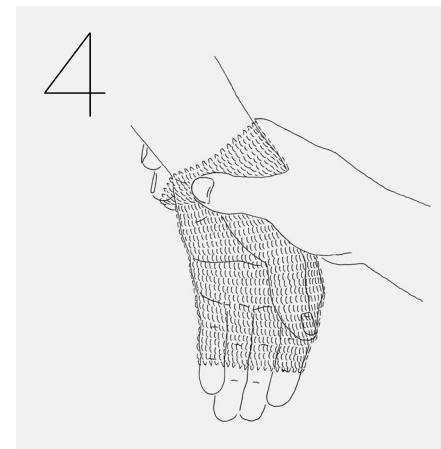

Chainmail is a strong material, which you can apply reasonable pressure on if necessary

Putting on

To put on your cuff, slide it along your fingers and over your hand, making sure that the chain mail does not fold up.

We recommend wearing the smallest size you can put on. A cuff that is too large will tend to run lower on your hand.

Removing

To remove your cuff, slide it along your hand and follow the movement.

To ease the process, make sure that the chain mail does not fold up.
